

At my core, I am a product strategist who believes that a highly effective product definition requires insight into the intersection of design, business, technology, and the user. My strengths encompass defining product vision, orchestrating the product's roadmap, crafting compelling stories, and delivering seamless, human-centered experiences. I enjoy interfacing with clients, internal executives and my engineering team to bring the product vision to life. I also thrive on maneuvering through project and political challenges, and most importantly, envisioning experiences that delight users. I fundamentally believe that a thoughtful product manager can improve people's lives, transform companies and change the culture.
